

NBS Focus Point: Transformational Thinking – Strategies for Success in a Changing World

Panelist:

Mr Koh Su Hock

Head of Channel Sales, South Asia

Dropbox

Class of 1998 Accountancy

Su Hock believes in harnessing the power of networks for the collective good. With advent of the third (computing) platform to analytics/big data + social media + mobile + cloud computing, and increasingly IoT, networks are creating unimaginable possibilities for greater economic, social, environmental and human outcomes.

A lifelong curiosity, willingness to unlearn & relearn, openness to circumstances, and most importantly people around him have guided his career transitions over the past 2 decades in the IT world.

Su Hock currently leads the Asia channel and local business to empower collaboration in organisations of all sizes and to help all users unleash their personal and collective creativity. Previously Su Hock has spent time with both Symantec and Intel in various Asia Pacific-wide roles.

Su Hock also passionately believe in gaia Earth and community causes because all things are inter-connected on our planetary network.
