Watch the video to learn more

Jointly organised by Nanyang Technological University, Singapore (NTU Singapore), and Peking University (PKU), China, this Double Master's programme guides you into understanding the global financial market and development issues, with an emphasis on the the Asia-Pacific. Our programme not only deepens your knowledge of the sector but also develops your self-confidence and skills needed to stand out in the global business market today and in the future.

As part of two dynamic and supportive alumni networks, you will have the opportunity to exchange views within a diverse class of professionals. This allows you to excel in your chosen career and sets you apart as a professional capable of driving change and making breakthroughs in the competitive global environment.

PROGRAMME INFORMATION

The Double Master's programme will be delivered in two stages at both universities. Students spend their first year studying at NTU Singapore's Nanyang Business School (NBS) where they complete all courses required by NTU MSc Finance programme. From the second year onwards, students join the School of Economics, PKU (SEPKU), where they complete one of the four professional master's degrees in Finance, Insurance, Tax, and International Business programme requirements.

The duration of the full-time programmes is two to three years. Graduates will be awarded NTU's MSc Finance degree and a PKU's professional master's degree upon completing this double master's programme.
