Feon Ang

Vice President, Talent & Learning Solutions
LinkedIn

Vice President, Continuous Learning
NTU NBS Alumni Association

Feon is the Vice President of LinkedIn's Talent Solutions and Learning Solutions, based in Singapore. In this role, she oversees the business and performance for both lines of businesses in Asia Pacific and China.

An accomplished and award-winning business executive, Feon is responsible for the strategic architecting, acceleration and expansion of business across the region. Having been with LinkedIn for over six years, Feon has delivered consistent results, with a keen focus on driving great performance and revenue goals through strategy, sales and cross functional collaboration.

Feon has a demonstrable track record of more than 25 years in formulating business strategy, driving organizational transformation, process improvement, team building and profit/loss enhancement. Well known for her strong leadership skills, Feon is equally passionate about nurturing talent and takes an active interest in building and empowering high-performance teams to deliver outstanding results.

Prior to LinkedIn, Feon spent more than 13 years at Gartner in various leadership roles. Her last role was Regional Vice-President, where she oversaw relationships with strategic client accounts across the Asia Pacific region. She was also instrumental in setting up offices in the region, including the Southeast Asia emerging markets and China.

Feon holds a bachelor's degree in Business from the Nanyang Technological University in Singapore.
