INTRODUCTION TO NBS

Nanyang Business School (NBS), consistently ranked amongst the Top 30 MBA programmes in the world by The Financial Times, has an amazing history of growth and success in the past 50 years.

Indeed, NBS is the natural choice for young executives who seek to learn and grow in a cutting-edge environment that brings to bear the latest thinking in business and technology. Fundamental to NBS's position as a leading business school are the three pillars of: Asian expertise, technology and innovation, and transformative leadership.

NBS taps on the university's expertise in technology in delivering Masters programmes. NTU is ranked number one in Asia and among the top 10 universities globally for engineering and technology. It is also among the top three in the world for research in artificial intelligence, according to Times Higher Education. NBS prepares students for future technological disruptions by combining the latest academic research with industry exposure.

As part of its mission, NBS seeks to nurture and empower its students to become business leaders by inspiring them, infusing them with purpose, and igniting their passion for the work they choose. The school seeks to do this in part by meeting their need for learning opportunities and providing relevant business insights and cutting-edge thought leadership.

In the next five years, NBS will gain from Singapore's development as "the beating heart of Asia" in the digital age. And in the coming decades, the college will be a beneficiary of Asia's continued ascent in the global economy as more global companies pick Singapore as their headquarters in the Asia Pacific. Today, more than 37,000 international businesses are based in the Lion City, including some 7,000 multinational firms.

Graduates of NBS are well positioned to be the next generation of leaders, and we have had great success hiring NBS graduates for positions across our organisation. In the course of their work, they exhibit drive, professionalism and the willingness to learn – attributes that are essential in today's dynamic workplace. We look forward to a continued relationship with NBS and help their graduates make an impact that matters in their roles at Deloitte."

Seah Gek Choo

"PwC Advisory is one of the major employers of NBS graduates. As a partner, I have had the pleasure to work closely with many of them for years. NBS graduates stand out with their solid technical skills combined with the right aptitude and attitude."

Ong Chao Choon

Deputy Chairman and Advisory Leader
PwC Singapore

"NBS student profiles are very suitable and relevant to us, especially for Marketing, Business Development and People team roles. During the interview process, the majority of them were confident and well prepared for the interviews. They showed good preparation by researching about Shopee and also the roles they applied to. The evaluation feedback especially for the marketing interns are very positive.

Every year, we welcome many students who graduated from NTU into our ranks, from interns to fresh grads to post grads to alumni across all our business units.

For the interaction with NBS career services, we found that they are easy to work with and has been very helpful in answering our queries. I liked their new initiative - ConnectNow where students can find out more about each company by scanning the company's unique QR code during the most recent NBS Career Fair."
